

I am adamantly opposed to weakening the "Do Not Call" Law. Unwanted telemarketing calls are an invasion of my privacy and is harrassment. Businesses have many types of opportunities to advertise their products without the need to interrupt my private life, such as when I am eating dinner (a time that is popular for advertisers to call.)